

Chestnut Hill Residence

The project started with a simple statement from the client: "I want a room of my own, with a porch where I can sit and listen to the rain."

Though the client lived in a comfortable house on a lovely site, they had no place where shelter merged with landscape.

So the room of one's own becomes four rooms with a view, wrapped around a hearth reaching out to the treetops. Terrace becomes porch and window becomes sky.